MEMORANDUM FOR THE RECORD

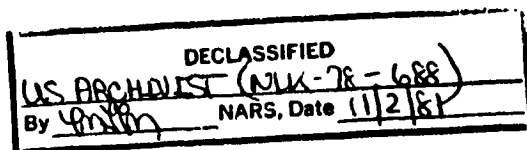

SUBJECT: Conversation with Ambassador Walter C. Dowling
by Telephone 7:00 P.M., September 27, 1962
(Reference: Bonn 917)

1. I told the Ambassador that we here thought it was not a good idea for the Chancellor to write to members of the Senate. Such messages from the Chancellor to members of the legislative branch might cause further confusion. I suggested that he might point out to Globke that the problem was more nearly one that was created by the Chancellor's feeling that he had to make use of people like Klein, than by any divergence of views between the two governments. Dowling agreed, and said he thought Globke had got that message.

2. Dowling told me he was seeing Globke again at 10:30 tomorrow morning and asked whether there was anything positive we could say. I responded that our disposition not to stir up matters was as positive as we could be now. Dowling said he thought the Germans would now fire Klein.
